

samosa chai ~ Observations and musings on the real and virtual world

IMAGE

Nature Mates – Nature Club beautifies Kolkata one butterfly garden at a time

07 Friday Feb 2014

POSTED BY DSUALEH IN PHOTOS

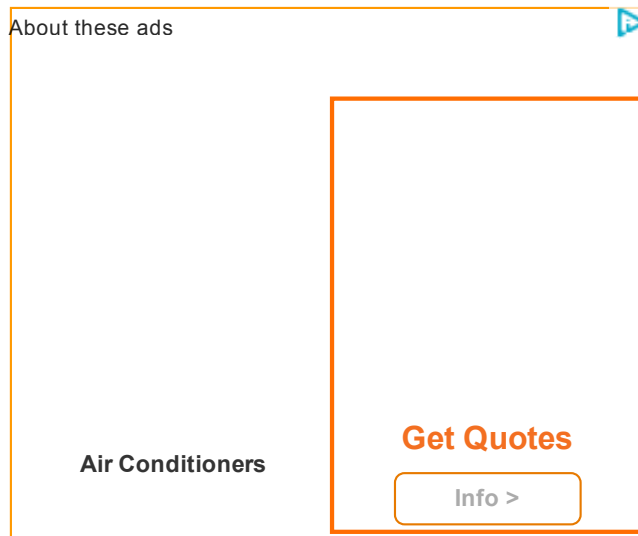

≈ LEAVE A COMMENT

Tags
park street

A spot of wild plant growth and litter is pleasantly transformed into a butterfly garden. Not only it is a pleasure for the eye but contributes towards an important conservation effort of flora and fauna. The spot is opposite Chatterjee International building near the Chowringhee end of Park Street. Once ready it will also provide the public an opportunity to appreciate the beauty of these small winged creations and their ecological role in the environment. All the best Nature Mates – Nature Club !

Blog at WordPress.com. The Chateau Theme.